Education and Training at The Royal Marsden

It is one of the Royal Marsden's over-riding aims to raise the standard of cancer care throughout the country - and beyond - by sharing its experience and expertise in training, treatment and care. The hospital's medical training programme for junior doctors has been described as the best in Europe, and we maintain the highest standards in all areas of education about cancer. The Royal Marsden trains more oncologists and cancer nurses than any other hospital in the country.

There are also specialist education programmes geared to improving the expertise of clinical staff, which further enhances the quality of patient care. These include certificate and diploma level courses, BSc and MSc degree courses and doctoral studies.

The Conference Centre

The Conference Centre benefits from an excellent lecture theatre complex with audio-visual and catering facilities. The main auditorium - the Julian Bloom Lecture Theatre - has seating for 120 people and there are several smaller seminar rooms.
