

Not For Sale

A new production, fusing movement, puppetry, image and text, which delves into the brutal world of UK sex trafficking.

How are people stolen from themselves, bit by bit?

Freefall Theatre and CHASTE, one of the major charities calling for the end of contemporary sexual enslavement, tell the real story of the user and the used, the abuser and the abused. Come and hear the faceless victim's voice.

They're screaming.

31st July – 4th Aug

8pm (and 2pm Saturday 4th)
£10 (£8 concessions)

Camden People's Theatre

58-60 Hampstead Road
London, NW1 2PY
(Tube: Euston Sq, Euston or Warren St)

Buy Tickets:

On the door, or

Phone 08700 600 100

Online <http://www.cptheatre.co.uk/>

Commissioned by CHASTE (Churches Alert To Sex Trafficking Across Europe)

In commissioning this innovative and provocative work from Freefall, we are moving forward the culture shift which is essential if Britain is going to become a set of nations where the abuse implicit in any form of prostitution is going to be counteracted. The issues surrounding trafficking for Sexual Exploitation are those that touch in the profoundest way on what it is to be human, and how we enable all people to live in dignity without abuse or fear. When a woman or child is trafficked for sexual exploitation, all dignity, respect and freedom is stripped away, bit by bit. CHASTE is working in the Not for Sale Campaign (www.notforsale.org.uk) to address the catalyst of demand which drives so much of this market of degradation, and to place the issues of sexual exploitation firmly on the cultural map as an area which needs a clear response by society at all levels that people are Not for Sale.

CHASTE

Rev'd Dr Carrie Pemberton, CEO CHASTE