R.S. Thomas: A Restless Integration

Carys Walsh is a Tutor and Lecturer in Christian Spirituality at St Mellitus College, London, and in parish ministry in Chelsea (the parish of St Luke's and Christ Church). Her doctorate, from London University (Heythrop College), was on Sacramental Theology and Spirituality in the work of the Priest/Poet R. S. Thomas, and followed earlier studies in Christian Spirituality also at Heythrop, Medieval Literature (University of Exeter) and a clinical qualification in Integrative Psychotherapy. Carys worked for several years for the Ministry Division of the Church of England, in the area of selection of ordinands for priestly ministry, and was a psychotherapist in private practice and teacher of psychotherapy. Carys is married to David, a priest in London Diocese, and enjoys genealogy, London history and walking Ollie the Westie.

The Diamond Heart: St Teresa of Avila & Psychological Perspectives

Julienne McLean practices as psychologist and Jungian Analyst. She is also a spiritual director who has had a lifelong involvement in the Christian contemplative tradition and helped to set up ‘The Contemplative School of the Heart’. For many years she has been teaching, running workshops and study groups on depth psychology and Carmelite Spirituality, particularly in relation to the lives and writings of the Carmelite saint and reformer St Teresa of Avila. She is the author of ‘Towards Mystical Union’ (St Pauls, 2003, 2013), which is a modern spiritual and psychological commentary on St Teresa’s classic text on contemplative prayer ‘The Interior Castle’.

In Soul Pursuit: Christianity, Psychoanalysis & Soul-Making

Surprisingly, a number of psychologists have recently become interested again in the nature of the soul. The day shall explore the relationship of the soul and psychology looking at it through a number of different perspectives: from early Christian perspectives, the perspective of Freud and Jung and possible ways forward of developing a viable ‘soul-language’ for clinical and spiritual work.

Peter Tyler is Professor of Pastoral Theology and Spirituality at St Mary's University, Twickenham, London. He has written extensively on spirituality and psychology and his recent publications include 'Teresa of Avila: Doctor of the Soul' (Bloomsbury 2013) and 'Picturing the Soul: Revisioning Psychotherapy and Spiritual Direction' (Dharmaram 2014). He is a registered psychotherapist in private practice.
