

DIRECTOR OF SAFEGUARDING

Candidate Information Pack

WELCOME

Welcome from the Acting Bishop of London and the General Secretary

Thank you for your interest in the role of Director of Safeguarding in the Diocese of London.

Effective safeguarding is fundamental to our Christian mission and identity. Enabling safer churches is one of our core diocesan priorities, and a responsibility shared by all who serve within our communities. The Director of Safeguarding will play a central role in helping us realise that commitment.

Over recent years, the Diocese has made significant progress in its safeguarding culture and practice, benefiting from the dedication and professionalism of its Safeguarding team and the commitment of its senior team. This was reflected in the Independent Safeguarding Audit undertaken by INEQE and published in May 2026. The audit also identified important opportunities to build on those foundations and, in response, we have committed ourselves to building a stronger, more resilient and more effective safeguarding system for the future.

The appointment of a Director of Safeguarding therefore marks the beginning of a new season by further increasing capacity, improving consistency, strengthening assurance and governance, deepening our victim and survivor focus, and embedding safeguarding expertise at the heart of decision-making. Alongside improvement of our systems, we are investing significantly in safeguarding leadership and resources because we know that safeguarding excellence requires both professional expertise and organisational commitment.

The Director of Safeguarding will be the Diocese's senior safeguarding professional and designated Diocesan Safeguarding Officer, providing strategic leadership across a large, diverse and complex organisation. Serving as a member of the Diocese's senior leadership team, the postholder will lead organisational improvement, oversee safeguarding assurance and governance, and help shape a culture that is preventative, accountable, transparent and continually learning.

We are seeking an exceptional leader with extensive safeguarding expertise, strong professional judgement and the ability to build confidence across a wide range of stakeholders. Most importantly, we seek someone who shares our determination to listen carefully, learn openly and ensure that safeguarding remains central to the life and witness of God's Church.

If you are inspired by the opportunity to lead meaningful change and help shape the future of safeguarding in the Church of England's largest diocese, we would be delighted to hear from you.

Rt Revd Dr Emma Ineson, Acting Bishop of London

Oliver Home, General Secretary

2030 VISION

Our vision is for every Londoner to encounter the love of God in Christ.

Through our 2030 Vision, we believe God is sending us out to live and speak the good news of the gospel. To do that we have prayerfully discerned our three main ambitions:

To reach every Londoner, we need to reflect the diversity of our city and be a welcoming, safe space. To do that we have prayerfully discerned our three main priorities:

These ambitions and priorities are enabled by the wise stewardship of the LDF as an organisation and of its people, buildings and finances.

THE LONDON DIOCESAN FUND (THE EMPLOYER)

The London Diocesan Fund (LDF) is the main central support organisation for the Diocese of London, providing the resources, professional services and organisational leadership that enable mission and ministry across churches.

The LDF Mission and Values

The LDF's Mission and Values framework shapes how we work together, make decisions and serve the wider Diocese. Our mission is:

“to support, serve and resource all parts of the Diocese of London in enabling every Londoner to encounter the love of God in Christ”.

This is supported by four values:

Confident, Compassionate, Creative and Connected

These values describe the culture we are seeking to build and the way we expect to work with one another, with parishes and clergy, and with the diverse communities we serve. We are looking for leaders who can bring confidence with humility, compassion with clear judgement, creativity in responding to complex challenges, and a connected approach that builds trust across people, teams and systems. Candidates are encouraged to reflect on how their own values, leadership style and professional practice align with this framework, and how they would help us live out these values in the context of safeguarding leadership.

Why this role matters now

Following the INEQE Independent Safeguarding Audit, the Diocese is making further significant and sustained investment in safeguarding leadership, capacity and assurance. The Bishop's Council (LDF Trustees) has agreed the recommendation to create a new role of Director of Safeguarding, in line with INEQE's recommendation, to replace the previous Head of Safeguarding.

Increased levels of staffing have also been agreed for the Diocesan Safeguarding Team. With the support of an Interim Safeguarding Development Lead, we are currently revisiting the shape of the team in response to INEQE's findings and recommendations, and the agreed structure may be determined before the successful candidate takes up the role. The Director will nevertheless have a significant opportunity to lead the building of the new Directorate, embed the agreed structure, shape ways of working, and drive delivery of expectations and improvements flowing from the audit. This is an important moment for safeguarding in the Diocese: the role offers the opportunity to bring strategic leadership, professional credibility and cultural influence to a well-supported programme of change.
