

Thank you for considering voting for me. I have worked in the church since 2003, both in London and the USA. I am now ordained and serve at St Mary's Bryanston Square. My heart is to see the church grow in unity, number, faith, and love, and I have a deep respect for all the different expressions of worship and churchmanship. My hope is that the communion can move forward, welcoming all people into worship and belonging.

I have a deep faith in the power of the cross. Following theological study and contemplation, I now hold an affirming position and believe the church should be diverse and inclusive in every way. I believe Synod should enable the local church to serve its community and parish through practical mission and social action, as well as through a dedication to the gospel. Having seen the damage of division, I currently support different parishes in the Two Cities area of London, honouring the diverse expressions of priesthood across traditions and theological stances. I would work to bring this type of respect to Synod.
